Reasons for Completing a Driving Evaluation

- A physician may request an evaluation to insure an individual is capable of returning to driving after a change in medical status. The evaluation needs to be completed prior to approval to return driving.
- If a doctor has been asked to fill out paperwork from the DMV they usually will have an evaluation done prior to filling out the paperwork.
- The DMV may require a medical evaluation prior to being eligible for license renewal/testing.
- Determine if a new driver has basic skills to pursue independent driving.
- Determine if adaptive equipment is recommended; to fit, try out and train for competency with this equipment with this equipment. NMEDA certified dealers will not install equipment without completion of a driving evaluation/training.
- Determine if an individual is safe to continue driving. Recommendation will be given including driving without restrictions, restricted driving (including but not limited to daylight hours only, speed limitation, distance, location, etc.) or retirement from driving.
- Peace of mind for family members, physicians, etc. regarding the individual's safety behind the wheel.
- Protection for the individual from potential liability in the future. After a change in medical status the individual will have documentation of completion of the evaluation and are safe to resume driving.
